

Do you have irritable bowel syndrome?

Are you interested in finding out about your gut bacteria (microbiota)?

Do you want to participate in medical research?

Are you interested in receiving a £15.00 LOVE2SHOP voucher?

LTHT are looking for healthy volunteers or people who suffer from Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS) to take part in a study which aims to improve diagnosis for IBS.

Research has shown that our gut bacteria is important for health and also may be a factor in IBS. Knowing this may lead to more appropriate treatments or management strategies to relieve symptoms in the future. The results will also be useful in the development of new therapies. Once your participation in the research is completed you will received a £15.00 LOVE2SHOP voucher

If you are interested, please contact

Prof Alex Ford / Research team on 0113 2068270 / 07706000248

emma.barron3@nhs.net