

The logo for talkhealth PARTNERSHIP, featuring the word 'talkhealth' in a bold, lowercase sans-serif font, with 'PARTNERSHIP' in a smaller, uppercase sans-serif font below it. The text is white and set against a dark grey rectangular background. This background is part of a larger graphic of overlapping, semi-transparent colored rectangles in shades of green, yellow, and purple.

Online bladder conditions community...

talkhealth is an online health community providing FREE information and support to the public. Working together with the NHS and leading charities, our health hubs are the place to find the latest health information, talk directly with experts and share your stories & experiences.

Our charity supporters:

An illustration of a woman with short black hair, wearing a yellow top. A blue speech bubble is positioned next to her head, containing text.

I've just been diagnosed with an overactive bladder, is there anywhere I can go for reliable information?

An illustration of a woman with short grey hair, wearing a blue top. A green speech bubble is positioned next to her head, containing text.

Yes! Check out talkhealth's talkbladder hub - it's full of helpful articles and useful information on a range of bladder conditions.

talkhealthpartnership.com/talkbladder

WORKING IN COLLABORATION WITH NHS TRUSTS